

Geography Challenge A Cards

Question 1

Label the name of the state that lies the farthest east in the United States.

Question 2

Label the name of the state that lies the farthest south in the United States (not including Hawaii).

Question 3

Label the name of the only state that lies along the 60°N parallel.

Question 4

Label the names of the states that touch 155°W longitude.

Question 5

Draw an X at 40°N latitude, 90°W longitude. Label the name of the state you are in.

Question 6

Draw an X at 45°N latitude, 120°W longitude. Label the name of the state you are in.

Question 7

Draw an X at 35°N latitude, 110°W longitude. Label the name of the state you are in.

Question 8

Draw a heavy line along the entire 115th meridian of longitude. Label the names of the four U.S. states this meridian passes through.

Question 9

Draw an X at 30°N latitude, 95°W longitude. Label the name of the state you are in.

Question 10

Draw an X at 35°N latitude, 80°W longitude. Label the name of the state you are in.

Geography Challenge B Cards

Question 1

Which region has the highest elevation?

B

Question 2

Which state has the highest elevation:
Iowa, Idaho, or Kentucky?

B

Question 3

Which state has the most area at the highest elevation?

B

Question 4

Which region has the most area at an elevation of less than 1,000 feet?

B

Question 5

Which region receives the most annual rainfall?

B

Question 6

Which region receives the least annual rainfall?

B

Question 7

Which state receives the least annual rainfall?

B

Question 8

Which region has the highest population density (most people per square mile)?

B

Question 9

Which two regions have the lowest population densities (fewest people per square mile)?

B

Question 10

Which three states have the lowest population densities (fewest people per square mile)?

B
